

Eagle sighting in the Anderson Park District

If you have visited one of the many parks in Anderson Township lately, you may have spotted an eagle, an Eagle Scout that is. During the past year, seven energetic young scouts completed their Eagle projects with the Anderson Park District.

It is no small task to complete an Eagle Scout project. It requires numerous hours of planning, execution and follow-up, and each step must be approved by the park district, the Scout's troop leader, and the local Boy Scout Council.

The Anderson Park District is proud of these young men and the work they accomplished. The park district also is proud of their resident Eagle Scout, Bob Pulskamp, who has been employed by the park district for 12 years in the operations department. Pulskamp was awarded his Eagle as a young man and has remained active in Scouting to this day. For Eagle Scout projects involving the park district, Pulskamp works side by side with each Scout, providing lives up to the quality standards that are expected of any park district project.

This past week, Pulskamp received the highest award any scout can receive: The District Award of Merit. This award was given to Pulskamp for his outstanding service to the youth of his community through idealism and citizenship.
